

APSCO - VELPLAT Privacy Policy

APSCO is committed to maintaining the accuracy, confidentiality, and security of all personally identifiable information ("Personal Information") and the copyrights of academic materials from Member States. As part of this commitment, our privacy policy governs our actions regarding the collection, use, and disclosure of personal and professional information. Our privacy policy is based on the values established by the Model Codes of Global Standards for the Protection of Personal and Professional Information and the International Frameworks for the Protection of Personal and Professional Information and Electronic Documents.

1. Scope

Participants are responsible for maintaining and protecting the personal and professional information, as well as the copyrights contained in the academic materials, in accordance with limited distribution.

2. Identification

The purpose is to assist participants from Member States invited by APSCO. The academic materials and presentations are property of APSCO-VELPLAT under the authority that grants their use.

3. Consent

APSCO's knowledge and consent are required for the collection, use, distribution, or disclosure of academic content from the VELPLAT E-Learning Platform, unless required or permitted by law.

4. Limitation of Use

Academic content from the VELPLAT E-Learning Platform may only be used or disclosed for the purpose for which it was provided, unless authorized in writing by APSCO. The personal information presented in this document is intended solely to facilitate networking among participants from Member States within the framework of the VELPLAT e-Learning Platform. The free distribution of information regarding personal and professional data is not permitted.